A short audio and video presentation has been created by Chelsea's Wayne Anderson, a former CBC journalist and senior editor. He will draw on the Society's extensive collection of interviews with notable Gatineau Valley residents of the past.

This presentation is part of a larger project to digitize and standardize the Society's collection of audio and video clips, some of which are available on the GVHS website at <http://www.qvhs.ca/research/oral.html>

"A Promised Land" - by J. William Galbraith author of John Buchan: Model Governor General

"John Buchan, Scottish-born renowned author of spy thrillers such as The 39 Steps, became Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada in 1935.

Unbeknownst to Buchan, his appointment almost caused a constitutional crisis, thanks to the Leader of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition at the time, Mackenzie King. King and Buchan had met a couple of times before, in particular in 1924 when John and Susan Buchan were guests of Mackenzie King in Ottawa and at Kingsmere.

Bill Galbraith, will introduce the model GG who endeared himself to Ottawans and Canadians generally and contributed so much to this country at so many levels. Buchan was an incurable fisherman, who was fortunate to have the Gatineau hills so close, where he could indulge his love of the outdoors."

GVHS President Marc Cockburn with Mayor Caryl Green at the Chelsea municipal offices on Old Chelsea Road.

In the fall of 2017, in recognition of Canada 150, the Society was pleased to present the Municipality of Chelsea with a framed reproduction of the watercolour "Old Chelsea, Quebec" by Francis Fitz Roy Dixon.

This iconic scene of Old Chelsea was painted in 1898 by artist Dixon, who had a summer home in the Cascades section of Chelsea. The reproduction rights for this painting were generously given to the Society by Jon and Lyne Dellandrea of Toronto.

New: Note Cards - $4.50 each

The Society is pleased to announce that we have 4"x6" note cards for sale with a watercolour picture of Old Chelsea by Francis Fitz Roy Dixon on the front - see the story about the painting above...
