HAPPY TIMES
AT THE MILL!

The summer of 1994 is proving to be a positive experience for the Historical Society at the Wakefield Mill and Maclaren House. Visitor attendance and revenues are higher than those of 1993. The Society is meeting its goals.

Society members are reminded that they have free admission to the displays. The Mill is a fascinating example of turn-of-the-century (19th century) technology.

All visitors are treated to an informative tour, conducted by one of our two summer staff members: Tanya Saunders and Charles Adams. They are assisted, on a rotational basis by Stuart Geggie, David Geggie, Andrew Geggie, and Jay Atherton. Muriel How, Pierre Pilon, George Gould, and Richard Morrison have also served as volunteers.

Hours are ten to four, Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays - until Labour Day. Come and have a look!
